

HMI (allows user to access any software component)

Workflow Management (ensures communication between hardware and software components)

